This year the first Emergency Medicine Day was launched. Now we are preparing for EM-Day 2019.

What is Emergency Medicine Day

On 27 May, we encourage citizens, patients, health care personnel, and institutions all around the world to talk about emergency medicine and make projects for progress in the discipline.

We believe it is important to build awareness about the need for well developed, well prepared and well organised emergency medical systems everywhere in the world to increase survival and reduce disability after any kind of urgent or emergent medical situation.

That is why you have received this newsletter, because we think we can make a difference together.

Our goal

We want to create a strong foundation for EM-Day: a strong network of decision makers, influencers, organisations and governments and make a plan for the future.

We will host a meeting to stipulate the importance of Emergency Medical Care by offering an interesting program of speakers from the field. We will brainstorm together how we all can contribute to make a change.

If you want to join this effort for 27 May 2019, please send an email to Isupport@emergencymedicine-day.org

We launched the new website emergencymedicine-day.org!

The website is part of our campaign. Here you find several options how to support us.

• Join our photo & video competition. You can participate by sending an original photograph or video of an emergency medical care live situation. The winners will get a free registration to the EUSEM 2019 congress in Prague.

• Plan a related event or course on or around the EM-Day. Your activity will be promoted on our website and in our newsletter.

• Give your social media channels an EM-Day makeover and start promoting us now.

Please look on our Take action-page for more info and how to support us.

EM-Day can only become a success with your support. Let’s put our hands together and spread the word through our social media channels.
